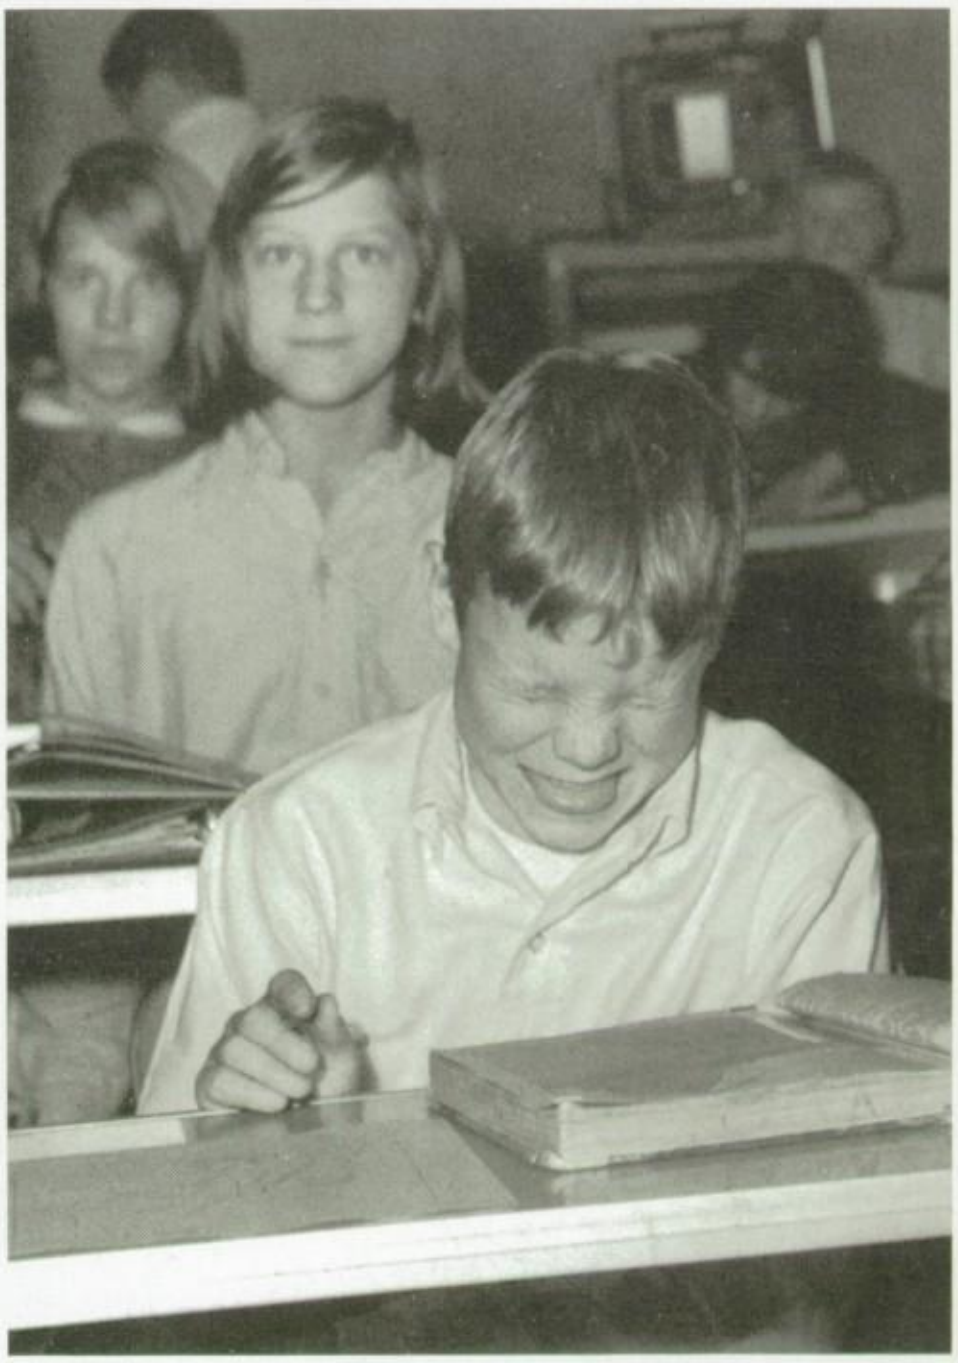
TRAINING IN manual skills offers Bruce Burnham, Shaf Crawford, and Greg Rike the opportunity to explore the various facets of industrial arts.

The Doors of Opportunity Have Been Opened . . .

PONDERING THE principles of American government, Oakwood foreign exchange students Eva Bjork, from Sweden, and Mario Costa, from Brazil, compare the United States with their own countries.



THE OPPORTUNITY to learn is provided for all Oakwood students, although some budding scholars are less appreciative than others.

OAKWOOD ARTISTS John Zamsky, Don Ensor, Jane Campbell, Betsi Halliday, Charles Bennett, Ann Stone, and Jon Clemens learn college-level art techniques at the Dayton Art Institute, where they attend classes two afternoons a week.

THE LONG-AWAITED privilege of attending senior high dances, especially post-game Y-parties, is enthusiastically accepted by the sophomores.

MARILYN LAWSON, who spent her senior year in Florence, Italy, as an AFS student, has had the unforgettable experience of learning and living with European customs.

Giving Us New Experiences of Many Kinds . . .

OAKWOOD PANELISTS John Beerbower and Betsi Halliday of the Dayton Daily News-Dayton Junior League Youth Forum, and guest panelist June Pinnell, find themselves in the middle of a heated debate following their appearance at Oakwood.

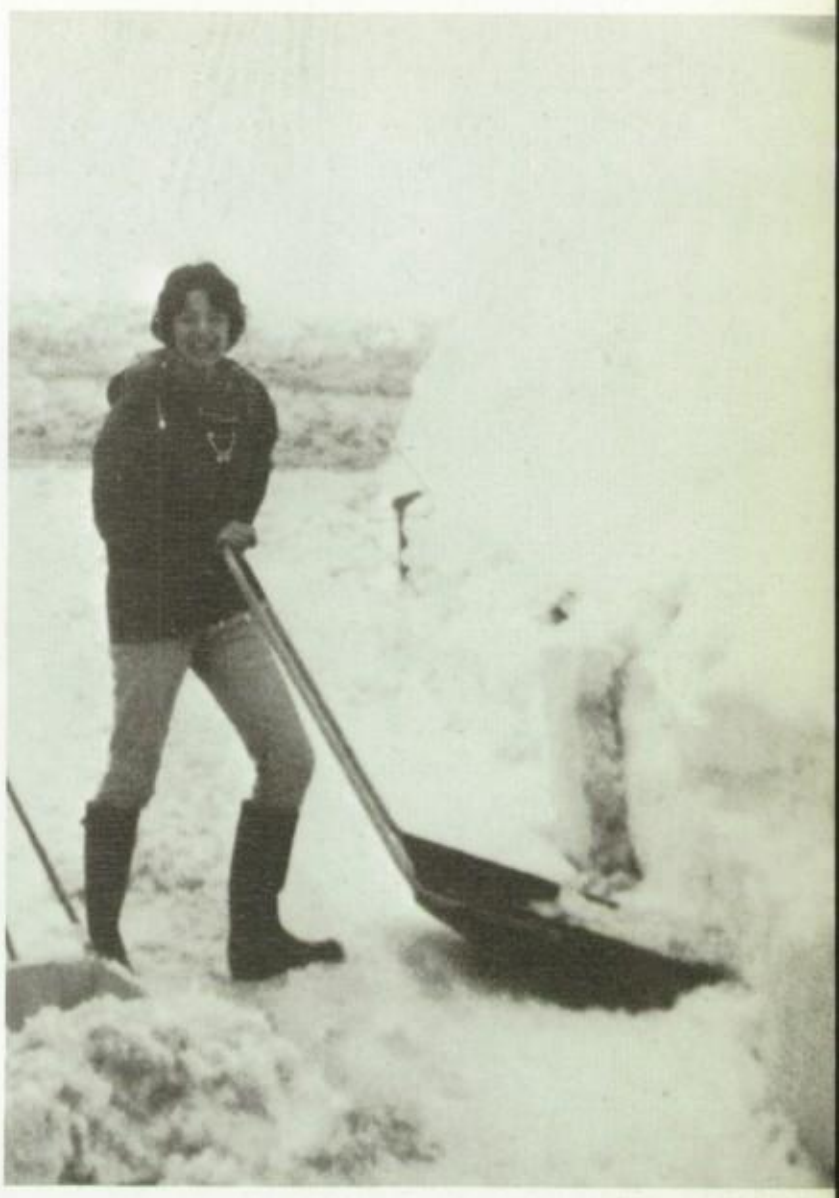
VIEWING PART of our nation's heritage, fifteen lucky Oakwood seniors enjoy an extra week of spring vacation as they visit New York City and Washington, D. C., early in April, on the annual JCOWA study tour.

Beyond the Threshold . . .

Await Sobriety . . .

ANXIOUS CHEERLEADERS make last-minute preparations as they wait in nervous anticipation for the pep assembly to begin.

THE PEP assembly begins with lively songs and cheers, but serious moments replace the wild clatter as Coach Greene tells his strategy, and the players soberly think about the game.



GLEEFULLY MIXING work and play, Betsy Stansfield, an AFS Student in Sandvika, Norway, helps to tunnel through the unbelievable amount of snow.

and Mirth . . .

THE FESTIVITY of the Senior Prom is demonstrated by the jolly dance of the snowmen, seniors participating in the entertainment done in honor of the king and queen.

Concentration and Exhileration . . .

BURDENED WITH physics, advanced-placement English, Math V, and French V, senior June Pinnell learns the need for concentration.

Service and Escape . . .

AN OUTLET for stored-up energy, the Basket Ball, like all other week-end dances, provides a momentary escape from the week-day pressures.

But While On the Threshold We May Glance Back Upon Tradition

SENIORS, WHO receive preferential treatment at senior high assemblies, are familiar with the traditional closing statement, "Seniors are dismissed."

THOUGHTS OF graduation bring gay feelings as David Gilmore, Judy Herbruck, and John Shively add another layer of paint to our colorful school landmark.

A NOON-HOUR haven for students, the Freedom Shrine offers a not-too-quiet place to study.

THE COAT-ROOM at the Y is a familiar sight to all who seek diversion in the festivity of Y open houses.

SENIOR RESEARCH themes require long weeks of hard work, but when they are finally completed and ready for presentation, all seniors find enjoyment in dressing up for "Grub Day."

Math Courses Range from Addition to Calculus

Oakwood kept abreast of the surge of modern mathematics and science this year by adopting two new textbooks into the Algebra I and geometry courses.

Also new this year was an overhead projector, aiding both the teacher and the students. After preparing the problems on a plastic transparent sheet, the teacher could illustrate several problems at once to the class.

New to the math department this year was Mr. Paul Greene and to the science department was Mr. Ted Shisler. Another change was that Mrs. Louise McCants, formerly teaching geometry, taught Algebra I.

By Studying English Literature

The English Department adopted a new series of composition texts this year in grades 7 through 10 to assure continuity in the teaching of composition. Another new text was introduced to teach the finer points of written expression to AP and special classes in grade 12.

To develop students' reading ability, to deepen their appreciation of our great literary heritage, and to expand their understanding of life by probing and discussing literature was the aim of the English Department. Hamlet, Huckleberry Finn, The Scarlet Letter, Lady of the Lake, and Silas Marner offered varied and challenging reading to senior high English students.

Ninth grade English students are being taught grammar through the technique of programmed learning. The student supplies his own answers to questions which he had formerly asked the teacher. Each pupil can work at his learning rate and faster students can go on to work in vocabulary.

New teachers in the English department include Mr. Joseph Suter and Mrs. Helen Peters.

Current Events Stimulate Discussion

Map-drawing, movies about industry or current events, research papers, international topics, and scrapbooks are activities that interest the social studies classes at Oakwood.

After studying in England for two summers, Mrs. Alice Vines initiated a group to study England. She hopes the group will be incorporated into the Junior Historical Society of Dayton. Mrs. Vines was the new American History teacher this year.

Discussions of international topics were featured on Fridays in Mr. Andrew's world history classes. Discussions were led by individual students with the class participating.

Mr. Howard Sales joined the department this year as the eighth grade geography teacher.

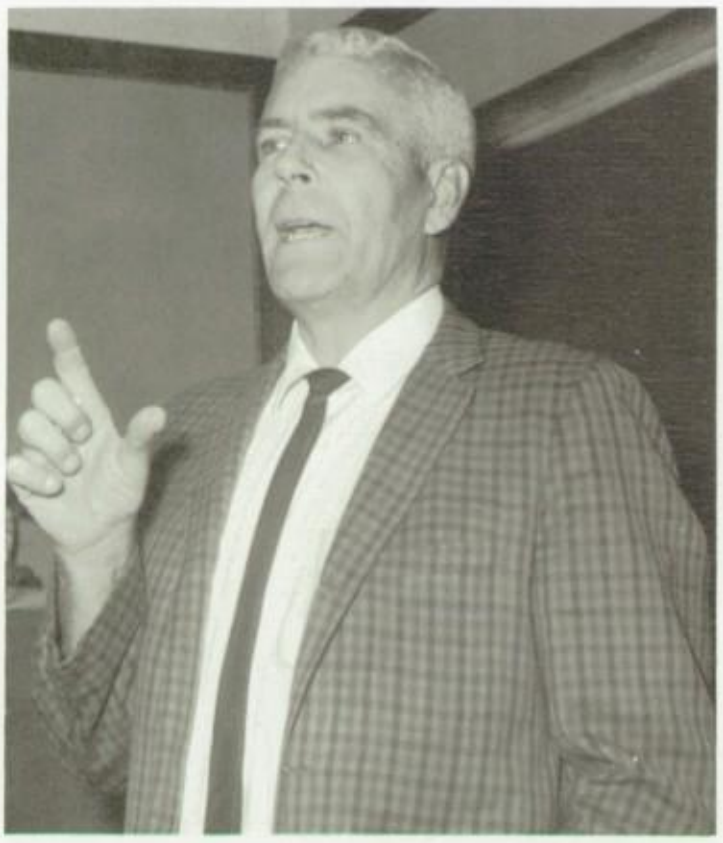
Students Work within Abilities

The slow learner program was initiated this year to aid students to work within their abilities. The program is aimed at those who will terminate their education in high school.

Mr. James Weaver taught the core courses in senior high while Mrs. Margaret Ofte directed these courses in junior high. Mr. William Hafner taught the sciences and Mr. Carl Reichert, the math. Because the classes are small, the courses alternate for three years among biology, physical science, and chemical science.

The proposed objective for this very flexible program is that core courses be scheduled in the morning so that students receive on-the-job training in the afternoon.



JAMES WEAVER—English 8, Slower Learner; Civics, Slower Learner; A.B. Dartmouth College; M.A. University of Dayton.

WILLIAM HAFNER—Biology; B.S. University of Dayton; M.A. Wittenberg University.

Elective Subjects Foster Interests

Personal typing-notehand was introduced in Mr. James Romick's class in business this year. It is a three-fourths credit course, and students studied typing for half of the total number of periods and notehand for the other half. They found both types of writing to be valuable skills for speeding homework.

To sew a neat seam and to prepare a tasteful dish are goals set by students in Mrs. Helen Russell's home economic classes. Mr. Albert Hoffman and his students are kept busy meeting the demands for tickets, posters, and programs needed for many functions at Oakwood. Miss Arlene Shaneyfelt produced many winning teams in interscholastic sports.

FROSTY FANTASY was greatly enjoyed after many hours of diligent preparation.

CAST SYSTEM is in vogue among seniors.

And Promote Spirit and Sportsmanship

After their return to school in September, the class quickly settled down to work, for their last year at Oakwood. There was much to be accomplished in this final year, but the seniors immediately learned their extra duties and challenges.

The extra-curricular activities soon swamped the seniors. With the end of fall approaching, November brought the class play "Take Care of My Little Girl," which was a success after many hard rehearsals. As soon as the play was over the seniors began thinking about the prom. Under the direction of Kathy Holmes and Marc Taylor, and with the effort of the entire class, "Frosty Fantasy" was the second big success of the year. The decoration committee produced unusual and elaborate decorations to promote the Christmas spirit in all students.

Christmas vacation soon followed and the usual parties and dances were enjoyed by every senior. However, all good things must come to an end, and the seniors returned to the routine of studies which brought rigorous testing. Achievement tests and College Boards were taken on Saturday, January 8. Exams were taken on January 19, 20, and 21: the weekend preceding exams provided little time for play. After taking exams the seniors were given no time to rest; their research themes were due at the end of February. The Dayton Public Library was a popular place for six long weeks. The day the themes were due was certainly a consolation for every senior; Grub day they call it, and everyone did look grubby.

A welcome change from studying for exams and writing research themes was the annual Basket Ball, highlighting a successful season. Spring was on its way and outdoor sports, such as golf, tennis, track, and baseball, were beginning to be organized. Spring vacation meant traveling for many seniors to various parts of the country; Florida tans were proof of a wonderful vacation.

Spring brought acceptances to chosen colleges, which was a relief to all. There was a restless and excited feeling in all seniors, for the long-awaited day was nearing—graduation. This was the climax of their high-school education as they marched down the aisle to future success.

Juniors Write Three Research Themes

Juniors proved to be the backbone of many school activities as they eagerly launched into a year of sports, organizations, and a full academic schedule.

Many boys as well as girls were active in sports all year, while five junior cheerleaders roused school spirit at Varsity football and basketball games.

College Boards, volunteer work at the Dayton hospitals, the new student traffic court, American history research themes, and the class play all demanded the juniors' time. Thirteen juniors were inducted into the National Honor Society in December. Juniors also participated in the JCOWA study tour to Washington, D. C., and in the Youth In Government program.

JUNIOR CLASS officers Jim Beerbower, vice-president; Wendy Talbott, treasurer; Tom Briner, president; and Kim Treat, secretary, begin to make their plans for college.

MICKIE GARNETTE and Susan Lemon labor industriously on a new project in the junior curriculum — research themes for American history.

Candy Sale Raises Necessary Funds For Sophomores' First Prom

As high school students, the sophomores responded eagerly to their new responsibilities and opportunities. AP English, JCOWA, reserve hockey, band, NFL, and the many dances provided a varied and profitable year for many interested sophomores.

Matt Schaeffer significantly represented his class in cross country as did Wes Callender in varsity football and Craig Loucks in varsity basketball; the reserve cheerleaders enthusiastically helped to promote school spirit throughout the basketball season.

The sophomores readily accepted the responsibilities connected with giving their first prom. The gala event of April 2 was an enjoyable evening for sophomores and upperclassmen alike.

Freshmen Spend Summer Hours Collecting Bugs and Leaves

Mythology tests, bug and leaf collections, and freshman assembly are the trademarks of the freshman year. Choosing their own curriculum for the first time, freshmen found their schedules to be more challenging. Speech, biology, and a foreign language were among the most popular choices, while 54 students participated in advanced English and math courses.

In sports, the ninth grade girls' hockey team was undefeated, and the twelve enthusiastic cheerleaders added pep and spirit to freshman football and basketball games.

After-school hours were spent planning the three freshman parties and preparing for the annual Junior Assembly dances at the Dayton and Morraine Country Clubs. Freshmen also participated in social hygiene courses, and in February many girls joined the Tri-Hi-Y groups. Overall participation in the many new activities open to them proved freshmen ready to step up to the senior high next year.

Iowa Tests Challenge Eighth Graders

Having completed their first year in the junior high, the eighth graders continued their challenge by accepting the more intense work and responsibilities offered to them in the eighth grade. Many students participated in the advanced English and math classes. Their interests in choir and band continued while a speech contest aroused new enthusiasm among those students who are looking forward to joining NFL next year.

Interested boys enjoyed football, basketball, and track, and active girls played hockey, volleyball, and tennis. Twelve cheerleaders spurred the eighth grade interscholastic teams to exciting victories.

The class officers proved quite capable in guiding their classmates through their second year and in preparing them for their third year at Oakwood.

Seventh Graders Adjust Rapidly

SEVENTH GRADE officers — Jeff Requarth, secretary; Mark Erbaugh, president; Tom Ducker, vice-president; Bob Coughlin, treasurer.

Having gone through the traditional orientation, the seventh graders adjusted to their new academic pressures and extra-curricular activities.

Many seventh graders joined the junior band and the seventh grade choir, while others competed in intramural or interscholastic sports, and all students experienced their first semester exams at Oakwood. Twelve enthusiastic cheerleaders added pep to all the football and basketball games.

Increased Studies, Activities, and Opportunities

Honor Society Strives for High Ideas

Twenty-seven outstanding juniors and seniors were tapped for membership in the Oak Tree Chapter of the National Honor Society early in December. In an induction assembly led by President Mike Riedmiller, various members explained the society's emblem, membership requirements, and ideals. The ceremony featured the Reverend Charles Seasholes who spoke on "Equality and Excellence."

NHS continued to serve the school by proctoring noon study halls and offering increased tutoring services in math, English, and science to junior high school students. Pen and paper vending machines were also maintained.

Quill and Scroll Encourages Journalists

QUILL AND SCROLL OFFICERS — Gretchen Hess, president; Mary Mitchell, secretary-treasurer; Sue Kievit, program chairman; plan future meetings of the club.

The first meeting of the Quill and Scroll and the only social event of the year for the two publications staffs was a banquet at Culp's Cafeteria. The speaker of the event was Mr. Laurence Neuman Jr., managing editor of the Dayton Daily News. His subject was the responsibilities and conscience of a free press. Ten new members were inducted at the meeting. The Wednesday noon meetings provided speakers such as Mrs. John Fitzpatrick telling about the place of women in journalism, and Mr. Charles Bergen describing graphic art in advertising.

To meet membership qualifications, members were required to be in the upper third of their class and to have exhibited outstanding journalistic ability. Officers for this year were Gretchen Hess, president; Mary Mitchell, secretary-treasurer; Sue Kievit, program chairman; and Beaver Boyer, honorary vice-president.

Under the leadership of president Marc Taylor, the members of the student council worked directly with Dr. Miller and Miss Upton instigating new policies and solving old problems. The annual Homecoming dance was sponsored by the council, and plans were made for a variety show as a money-making project.

The Junior High Student Council discussed the littering problem and also supervised a noon study hall for the junior high. Officers were Doug Talbott, president; John Schaible, vice-president; and Ann Wagner, secretary-treasurer.

Student Court Continues to Improve Efficiency

STUDENT COURT Judges: Charlene Setzer, Carrie Brower, Marty Erbaugh, Bob Deuser.

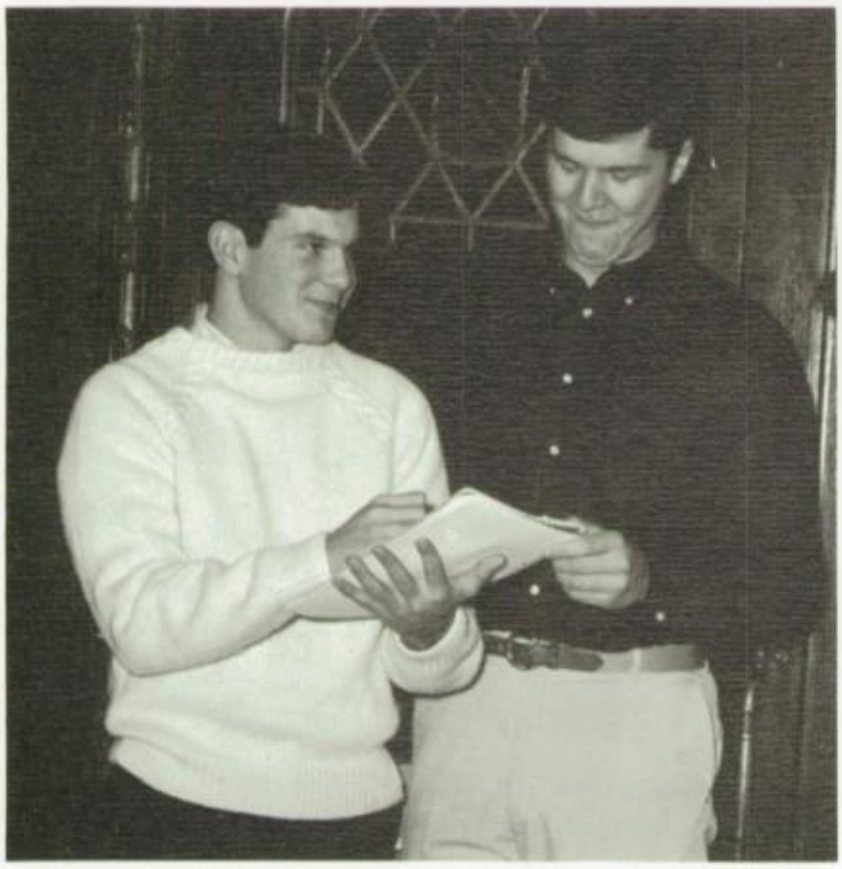
BAILIFFS TERRY Czuba and Mark Ohmer study prospective case.



Having been elected last spring by popular vote of the student body, judges Marty Erbaugh, Charlene Setzer, Bob Deuser, Carrie Brower, and bailiffs Terry Czuba, Bonnie Murphy, and Mark Ohmer assumed the duties of student court officials for the new school year. Cases were tried in the mornings before school, verdicts reached, and letters were sent to the parents of the offenders. By following the established procedures of last year, the court further strengthened its responsibilities and efficiency.

JCOWA Studies Africa

The emergence and rising importance of the African nations was the central theme of JCOWA's studies this year. Beginning its activities with the High School Institute — to which Oakwood sent one of the biggest delegations, and culminating with the always popular Model General Assembly and annual trip to Washington and New York, this year's members were kept busy throughout the year.

Highlights of the year included: the vast membership increase from 150 to 250 members, the colorful costumes which climaxed U.N. week, the reports on several of the more well-known emerging African nations, and the Great Decisions discussion program. With a strong membership of active Sophomore and Junior members, JCOWA is looking ahead to a year of even greater participation and activity among its members.

OAKWOOD JCOWA members attended progressive dinners before the opening session of the Model General Assembly.

National Forensic League, a highly competitive organization in which a participant must earn twenty-five points in contests — and rank in the upper two-thirds of his class — to attain membership, had another banner year. Under the very capable coaching of Mr. Loren Shearer, the speech team both participated and placed very high in many tournaments this year.

For the second year Oakwood's speech team hosted its own speech and debate tournaments. The vast popularity of these tournaments, with teams from all over the state competing, shows the ever increasing interest in public speaking.

Yearbook Records School Events

Through hard work, improved copy, and better pictures, the members of the 1966 Acorn staff worked hard to equal the record set by last year's staff. The 1965 Acorn received the Medalist Award, the highest award given by the Columbia Press Association, and given to only five schools in Ohio.

Plans began in the spring with the selection of the staff and choice of the cover. During the summer, pictures and dummy pages were drawn up, and advertisements were sold. The staff continued to work hard as scheduling pictures, writing copy, and meeting deadlines became commonplace as each page was sent to the publisher.

Staff Keeps Students Informed

The fifteen members of the Oak Leaf staff worked diligently this year to improve reporting methods, the appearance of the paper, and to write more interesting and stimulating copy. A new masthead was approved to give the paper a more modern appearance and editorials were written to arouse student interest and express new opinions and ideas from prom murals to safe driving. The paper also featured interviews with well-known personalities such as Bob Veith, former race driver, and Mrs. Sylvia Reice, editor of Ingenue magazine. Carlee Rader proved her writing ability by winning second place in the news writing contest sponsored by the Journalism Association of Ohio Schools, at Ohio State University.

STAFF MEMBERS — Patty Schumacher, Mary Beth Callendar, Sandy Rawson, Kathy Wall, Carole Fitzpatrick — correct copy.

MALE STAFF — Steve Smith, Beaver Boyer, Brad Williams, Jed Skillman — proofreads the paper.

Chess Club Places Third in State

Formed in 1957, the Chess Club now has a large membership. The Club is open to all students in grades seven through twelve who pay the one-dollar fee. The members challenge each other for the right to compete in interscholastic matches. This year's team includes Mike Taylor, Steve Snyder, Kim Treat, Derrick Stowe, and Mark Erskine. They play the six other teams in their division, which is part of the twenty-one team city league. The major contests they enter are the two-day state tournament in Cincinnati, the Greater Dayton Chess League Tournament, and the Dayton Individual Play-off. Oakwood has taken the trophy every year since 1959.

Rifle Club Becomes Member of N R A

Emphasis on the proper handling of firearms by teenagers is one of the aims of the Rifle Club, now in its second year. Under the sponsorship of the Oakwood Police Department and the guidance of Patrolman Olson, the team competed with other schools in the area. Recently they became members of the National Rifle Association.

The club practiced at the indoor rifle range at the University of Dayton and at numerous outdoor target areas.

The projects of this year's Red Cross Council were quite numerous and very much appreciated. They decorated the Veteran's Administration for Christmas, wrapped packages for patients at the Stillwater Sanitorium, made disaster kits for areas around Dayton which might need them, and sold bookcovers in school. The highlight of the year was a high school chest, which was filled with useful articles and sent to an underprivileged country.

Capably aiding Mrs. Helen Russell was Miss Sally Anne Westrick, the new co-advisor. Elected officers were Kathy Fogt, president; Mary Herron, vice-president; Lucy Bergen, secretary-treasurer; and Susan Kains, publicity.

PEN AND BRUSH CLUB OFFICERS—Grace Gibbons, secretary-treasurer; Janny Palmer, president; absent, Harry Price, vice-president.

The aim of the Pen and Brush Club is to further students' knowledge and appreciation of art. Under the leadership of president Janny Palmer and advisor Mr. Carmichael, the club sold stationery to finance a trip to the Ohio State University art department. Other officers—Harry Price, vice-president; Grace Gibbons, secretary-treasurer; and a board of two members from each art class, controlled the meetings which met at noon.

New projects this year included a showcase for the "art work of the month," and paintings were sold at PTA meetings and the 4-Arts Exhibit.

One of the highlights of the year for the members of Oakwood's Senior Band was sponsoring the Marine Band in Dayton for the fifth time. Band members walked almost as many miles selling tickets as they did marching! This hardworking organization started in the August heat, long before most students began thinking about returning to school. Their main goals were the District and State contests where they had taken straight one's for nine years, and the winter and spring concerts. They again performed at football games, and did an excellent and much-complimented discotheque during one halftime. Outside the school, they played at the County Fair, the Ice Cream Social at the YMCA, and in the University of Dayton's Homecoming parade. The Lawn Fete and the Band Parents' concession stands were two profitable enterprises, which were also conveniences for the school.

The mixed ensemble represented Oakwood on the television show, "The Rising Generation".

The choir chose as its officers Kathy Holmes, president; Cindy Karas, vice-president; Judy Vandenberg, secretary-treasurer; and Tom Moon and Jane Schaible, librarians, who were in charge in Mr. Uhl's absence.

Seniors Portray Sorority Life

Take Care of My Little Girl was presented by the seniors on November 19th and 20th under the direction of Mr. Donald Harness. The comedy was about the inner workings of the Queens, a college sorority, and the problems of Liz, a pledge.

The starring role of Liz was played by Susan Gowdy; other leads were John Beerbower, Cindy Karas, Cathy Hause, Mike Fitzpatrick, Margaret Kirgis, and Lyn Landis. The chairmen of the technical crews were Anne Seifert, student director; Beaver Boyer, stage manager; and Alison Harper, house manager.

ONE OF the most dramatic scenes occurs when Joe (John Beerbower) throws Chad (Mike Fitzpatrick) out of the Queen's sorority house, while Dallas (Cathy Hause) looks on.

Class Presents 'Teahouse' As Spring Play

MIKE REQUARTH studies his lines as the others rehearse.

"The Teahouse of the August Moon" was presented by the junior class on May 20 and 21. Mr. Joseph Suter, a first-year teacher at Oakwood, directed the play, and Kath Wall and Linda Zimmerman were the student co-directors.

The plot involves the American occupation of Okinawa after World War II. The Americans are trying to place the people of the island under a democracy after Japanese influence. The misinterpretations of the islanders of the American ways add to the humor of the script.

The characters in the play are both American and Oriental. The main characters were: Gary Lydick, Sakini; Wendy Talbott, Lotus Blossom; John Elef and Mike McNeilly, the Americans, Fisby and McLean; Steve Speakman, Purdy; Barb Newbold, Higa Ziga; and Mike Requarth, Gregovitch.

The unusual set was made in the shape of a teahouse and was decorated with bamboo curtains and panels. The changing of scenes and the addition of a live goat added to the excitement of the play.

Nancy Is Crowned as the Homecoming Queen for 1965

At halftime of the October 8th game with West Carrollton, the 1965 Homecoming court was presented. Members of the court were: Betsi Halliday, escorted by Rusty Tuverson; Kathy Holmes, by Bob Douser; Cindy Karas, by Mike Riedmiller; Nancy Frank, by George Pfleger; and Lyn Landis, by Dan Stickel. They were driven around the track in Oldsmobile convertibles by top-ranking senior boys — Tom Moon, John Wolfram, Dick Yarger, Med Lutmerding, and John Beerbower. The queen received flowers, presented by Margaret Kirgis; was crowned and kissed by the football co-captains, Marty Erbaugh and Marc Taylor; and was serenaded by the band.

Jane and Rob Are Selected as Basket Ball King and Queen

THE ROYALTY, Jane Wagner and Rob St. Pierre, reigns over the dance held at the Oakwood Y.

King Rob St. Pierre and Queen Jane Wagner reigned over the annual Basketball dance at the Y on February 12. Following the precedent set last year, the dance was held not after the last home game but the following evening. Marty Erbaugh, Bonnie Murphy, and Caryl Owen were chairmen of the event. Entertainment was provided by "The Three People," a folksinging group composed of Dave Garrison, Debby Coughlin, and Jim Coughlin.

"THE THREE PEOPLE," Dave Garrison, Debby Coughlin, and Jim Coughlin, sound almost professional as they sing lively folk songs for entertainment at the Basket Ball.

Janny and Marty Are Royalty of Frosty Fantasy

A star-studded ceiling, angels and snowflakes, tissue-paper candy canes descending from the balcony, Christmas trees decorating the tables—all combined in creating a wintry atmosphere for the Senior Prom.

Under the able co-chairmanship of Kathy Holmes and Marc Taylor, and class advisor Mr. Kuhns, "Frosty Fantasy" culminated the month-long efforts of the senior class in one gala affair.

Roger Shaffer and Kathy Holmes, reigning monarchs from the prom of two years ago, presented the new king, Marty Erbaugh, and queen, Janny Palmer, with the traditional crowns, kisses and flowers. In honor of the royal couple and court, entertainment, featuring Jack Frost and his company, kept spirits for the evening high.

Sophomores Present First Prom, An Evening At Tivoli

"An Evening at Tivoli" was the theme of the sophomore prom in early April. Based on the famed carnival in Italy, the decorations included a merry-go-round bandstand, a fountain as seats for the royalty, and clowns, fireworks, and a carnival night scene as murals.

Co-chairmen Annie Barker and Matt Schaeffer, with the help of class sponsor Mr. Andrews, began plans early to allow committee chairmen time to organize and co-ordinate their committees. Some of the chairmen include Beth MacCaulay, murals; Carol Lambert, bandstand and decorations; Robin Gorog, court; and Carlee Rader, table decorations.

Suffering a 1-7-1 season did not show the work of this year's football team. They never quit but went back every Monday night to do their best for the school. Formerly, boys have come out for the team, but soon quit. This was not true this year. A few boys stopped, but none left the team because they disliked hard work or the coaches.

The boys were inexperienced, there were five returning lettermen and a new coaching staff. Coaches Greene and Sales along with coach Stuckey worked with the new team. The boys admired their coaches and were glad to work for them.

The returning lettermen did well on the field. Roger Shaffer had an amazing kicking average of almost 41 yards, Marty Erbaugh and Jack Porter beefed up the offensive and defensive lines, Marc Taylor did an outstanding job at offensive halfback and fullback and defensive cornerback. Jay Heitz did a fine job at end. Other than these, there were 20 new lettermen. The 5 senior letter-winners were Jesse Cornwell, Dart Messick, Steve Powell, and Terry Czuba.

Honors won this year on the SWBL all-league team were as follows: Marc Taylor, first team, Terry Czuba, second team defense, and Marty Erbaugh, Roger Shaffer, and Jay Heitz received honorable mention. This year Marc Taylor was voted the best All Round Senior Player.

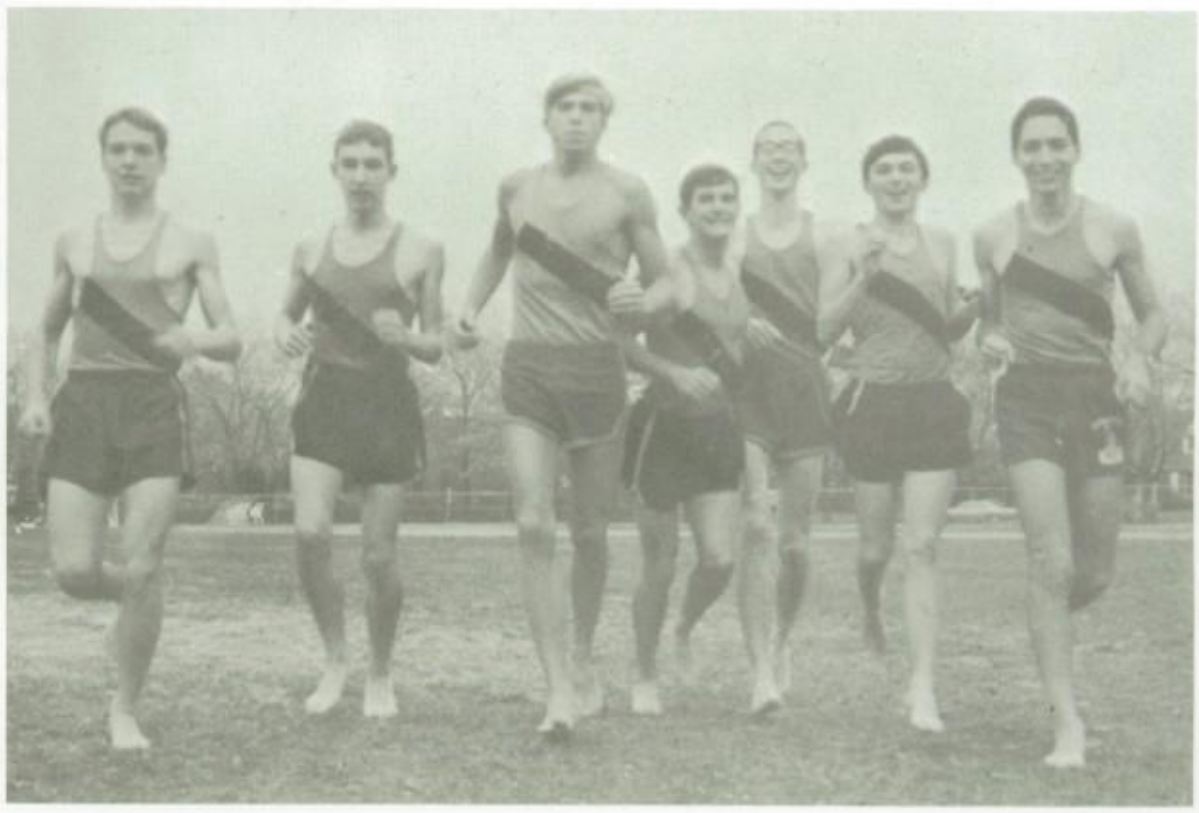
LEAGUE - WINNING John Shively and Coach Carr discuss pre-meet strategy.

This year's cross country team did very well in all their meets, especially in the league meet, in which the team received first place out of ten entries. In the district meet John Shively finished first out of 103 with an excellent time.

The seven starters on the team were all good runners. John Shively did a fine job, by setting five course records including a new league-meet record of 10:17, and a new Oakwood record of an amazing 9:23 in the two-mile run. At the state meet in Columbus, John finished thirty-sixth out of seventy-two boys with a time of 10:30.



TOP SEVEN show off their fabulous running skill on the field.

Varsity Jacks Have a Fine League Season

This year's Varsity Jacks did an outstanding job throughout the season. In league play they did very well and ended the season in fourth place. There were three returning seniors with one new boy, Charlie Anderson, filling the four senior positions. Dave Klum, Rob St. Pierre, and Ted Jones were the seniors who played good ball during the season.

The Reserve squad coached by Mr. James Schantz did a good job this season. They showed great potential for the coming years in Varsity play and through their won-and-lost record showed that they will be well used in the following years.

All the fine junior and sophomore players worked well together during the season. They showed the school many exciting games and the Varsity can look for an outstanding team next year.

Junior High Finishes Season in Good Shape

The Junior High basketball teams had a good showing this season. Due to new members on all teams and new coaching, the boys found it difficult to coordinate their plays; consequently, their season did not begin as well as they had expected. The boys practiced several hours almost every day, and when they lost a game, they returned to the court the next day to drill those things which had given them trouble previously.

Even though the ninth grade's game average was not excellent, there are many boys who show promise and will be valuable to next year's reserve team.

Netters Keep Up League Standings

The Varsity Tennis team had a new coach this year. After the retiring of Mr. Mac Hummon, who had led the team to many league championships, Mr. Robert Anderson took over the leadership.

Golf Team Pars Another Year

NEITHER RAIN nor snow nor sleet nor hail kept the golf team away from the links. The willingness of the golfers was shown in their tireless efforts of smacking the little white ball around the course. Jay Heitz, a senior, was an asset to the team. Marty Lehr, Rich Glass, Jim Bolenbaugh, Derrick Stowe, Med Lutmerding, and Mike Kennedy returned for another successful year under Coach Gardener's direction.

The reputation of the past years provided a strong incentive for this year's Varsity Track team. All the opponents were waiting for a chance to beat the Jacks. Although the team missed last year's seniors, a strong stand was held with the hard work of many returning lettermen.

Tom Briner ran the 100 yard dash; Mat Shaffer, the 880 yard run; and Fred Dodds, the 440 yard race. John Shively and Rus Tuverson raced both the mile and two-mile runs. Tim Larkin and Phil Pierson threw the discus; Jack Gallagher heaved the shot. George Pfleger found self-satisfaction in clearing the high bar. The best pole vaulter proved to be sophomore Jack Reeder.

Junior High Spring Sports Prepare for Later Varsity Teams

A FEW baseball enthusiasts sit on the diamond to plan their strategy for the long summer season ahead.

The junior high tennis team again built a strong background for future netters. The turnout was good and many of the boys on last year's team returned to further develop their skills. Many of the boys show promising capability in both singles and doubles matches. For the most part, these boys are increasing their ability and chances for further participation.

Along with a large tennis turnout came a prosperous baseball season. Junior high baseball, started only a few years ago, has added another sport to junior high activities. Starting at this age will produce many top players for the future Varsity squad.

Batmen Learn Much from New Coach

Mr. Lee Matthews, who served as the new varsity baseball coach, instructed the squad with many new and interesting ideas. He advocated much running and strenuous physical workouts along with new techniques in hitting and pitching. Although official practice started in March, many boys began training sooner. With the help of several returning lettermen, the team proved to be successful batmen.

Varsity O Has Fun and Successful Year

The Varsity O had the best year ever. The officers did an outstanding job in all their tasks for the school. The main money making scheme was the selling of Oakwood Lumberjack stickers for cars. These stickers which glow in the night were a very successful venture and everyone seemed very pleased at the results.

The Varsity O was supervised by Mr. Stuckey who helped at all meetings and in the general affairs of the club.

Skiing Trip Highlights the Year's GAA Activities

Under the leadership of officers from each class, the Girls' Athletic Association completed another successful year. GAA sponsored intramurals in each sport during the year in which the girls could earn GAA points.

Instead of the usual trip to Columbus for an Ohio State University football game, the members took a skiing trip to Belle Fontaine which proved to be fun for everyone.

Despite disappointments in low scores during the football season, the cheerleaders, with the aid of the pep boys, succeeded in maintaining a high level of enthusiasm at all the games. Basketball cheerleaders did a fine job in leading the cheers of the students to help the team.

Not only the Varsity cheerleaders, but also the Reserve and Freshmen girls worked hard to help their teams to win. The Freshmen and Reserve cheerleaders also helped the Varsity cheerleaders make victory tags, and they helped cheer in the pep assemblies.

A successful hockey season can be added to the long list of the girls' athletic achievements. Members of both the Varsity and Reserve squads can be proud of the spirit, determination, and fight shown in both the games and the daily practices. In the traditional rivalry game with Fairmont West, the Varsity Jills came out on top with a score of 2 to 1.

The two Oakwood goals were scored by Janie Krumholtz and Mary Mitchell. The reserves also won by a score of 1 to 0. The Varsity team won all other games except against Fairmont East. The Reserve team gave hopes of a successful team for next year by winning all their games. The season ended with the annual hockey banquet in honor of the team members and the new coach, Miss Shaneyfelt.

The Varsity Jills' volleyball team had a disappointing season with only one win. Oakwood overcame Miamisburg but lost to Wayne, Fairmont East, Trotwood, and Fairmont West.

Lyn Landis exhibits her skill at the net.

Three senior girls, Judy Herbruck, Becky Holloway, and Lyn Landis, and one junior girl, Sue Connelly, returned this season to continue the fine reputation for tennis that Oakwood has had in the past.

Troy, Fairmont, and Middletown provided good competion for our girls, but with the skill of the returning team members and with help from the sophomores, the girls tennis team made a fine showing.

The success of next year's Varsity teams can be determined by this year's Freshman hockey team and by the junior high intramural teams. If the junior high girls continue to show the interest and enthusiasm in hockey, volleyball, basketball, and tennis that they have shown this year, all the girls' sports will benefit in the very near future. The Varsity coaches are looking forward to including these girls on next year's Varsity squads.

After four hectic deadlines, which involved long sessions at the Hess and Halliday households, and week-end gatherings at Miss Crisman's home, we've finally accomplished the task of presenting this Acorn to you as a hard-bound memory of the school year. We would like to thank the administration and faculty of dear old Oakwood High for their encouragement and support; our advisors, Miss Crisman and Mrs. McCants, for their guidance; Miss Judy Engerman and Mr. Robert Kimmel of the Wallace-Martin Photography studio, who always pulled through with the pictures for the deadlines; and Mr. James Parkinson, whose patience and co-operation made our work enjoyable in producing the 1966 Acorn.
